

Fall Training Opportunities (Online and Face to Face Options)

All trainings are Growing Futures approved

North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten Online Training Series

The following trainings are a focused look at a specific domain in the North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten. These one-hour trainings explore specific domains and sub-domains represented in the standards allowing you to reflect on the domains through interactions, early childhood environments, and individualization with children. These trainings also demonstrate how domains are cross-cutting, and one domain area can support additional domains and sub-domains. The following online trainings are available starting September 15th:

Title: Introduction to the new North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten, Online

The New North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten were released in 2018 and developed through a collaborative effort of early childhood professionals across the field of early childhood education. This training will discuss the standards that provide a comment set of expectations for children's learning and development across various types of early learning settings and how they can be implemented within programs.

Link to register: <https://ndcde.agilixdawn.com> Cost: Free

Title: Approaches to Play and Learning, North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten Online Training Series.

This training is a part of the North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten Online Training Series. This one-hour training focuses on Domain I: Approaches to Play and Learning and is one of five online trainings in the series. This online training focuses on how children learn and skills and behaviors children use to engage in learning through play. The sub-domains Emotional and Behavioral Self-Regulation, Cognitive Self-Regulation, Initiative and Curiosity, and Creativity will be the focus of this training, allowing you to reflect on the domains through interactions, early childhood environments, and individualization with children. This training also demonstrates how domains are cross-cutting, and one domain area can support additional domains and sub-domains. There is not a specific order to the trainings.

Link to register: <https://ndcde.agilixdawn.com> Cost: Free

Title: Children's Relationships with Adults and With Other Children, North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten Online Training Series.

This training is a part of the North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten Online Training Series. This one-hour training focuses on Domain II: Social-Emotional Development, specifically focusing on two Sub-Domains Children's Relationships with Adults and With Other Children. This training is one of five in the online training series. This online training focuses on the importance of relationships and relationship building for children with adults and other children. You will reflect on how interactions, early childhood environments, and individualization with children are used to build relationships. This training also demonstrates how domains are cross-cutting, and one domain area can support additional domains and sub-domains. There is not a specific order to the online trainings in the North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten Online Training Series.

Link to register: <https://ndcde.agilixdawn.com> Cost: Free

Title: Domain II Social-Emotional Development, Emotional Functioning, North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten Online Training Series.

This training is a part of the North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten Online Training Series. This one-hour training focuses on Domain II: Social-Emotional Development, specifically focusing on the Sub-Domain Emotional Functioning. This training is one of five in the online training series. This online training focuses on the importance of guiding and developing a child's emotional functioning, building a child's ability to recognize and label feelings while working individually and with others. You will reflect on how interactions, early childhood environments, and individualization with children are used to build emotional functioning skills. This training also demonstrates how domains are cross-cutting, and one domain area can support additional domains and sub-domains. There is not a specific order to the online trainings in the North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten Online Training Series.

Link to register: <https://ndcde.agilixdawn.com> Cost: Free

Title: Domain II Social-Emotional Development, Sense of Identity and Belonging, North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten Online Training Series.

This training is a part of the North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten Online Training Series. This one-hour training focuses on Domain II: Social-Emotional Development, specifically focusing on the Sub-Domain Sense of Identity and Belonging. This training is one of five in the online training series. This online training focuses on the importance of building a child's sense of identity and belonging. You will reflect on how interactions, early childhood environments, and individualization with children are used to build a child's sense of identity and belonging. This training also demonstrates how domains are cross-cutting, and one domain area can support additional domains and sub-domains. There is not a specific order to the online trainings in the North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten Online Training Series.

Link to register: <https://ndcde.agilixdawn.com> Cost: Free

The following are face to face training locations for the new standards training:

Title: Introduction to the new North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten

The New North Dakota Early Learning Standards Birth to Kindergarten were released in 2018 and developed through a collaborative effort of early childhood professionals across the field of early childhood education. This training will discuss the standards that provide a common set of expectations for children's learning and development across various types of early learning settings and how they can be implemented within programs.

Date	Location	Time	Registration Link
September 28th Cost: Free	Minot, ND Head Start 2815 Burdick Expressway East Minot, ND	9:00-12:00	Your event URL is https://www.eventbrite.com/e/introduction-to-the-new-north-dakota-early-learning-standards-birth-to-kindergarten-tickets-69336861419
October 5th Cost: Free	Williston, ND Opportunity Foundation, Conference Room 612 E Broadway Williston, ND	9:00-12:00	Your event URL is https://www.eventbrite.com/e/introduction-to-the-new-north-dakota-early-learning-standards-tickets-69344393949
October 19th Cost: Free	Bismarck, ND Quality Inn (old Comfort Inn) 1030 E Interstate Ave, Bismarck, ND	9:00-12:00	Your event URL is https://www.eventbrite.com/e/introduction-to-the-new-north-dakota-early-learning-standards-tickets-69346901449
October 26th Cost: Free	Mayville, ND The training will take place on the campus of Mayville State University, Education Building, Room 118. When you register specific directions to the education building on the campus of Mayville State University will be sent your way via email.	9:00-12:00	Your event URL is https://www.eventbrite.com/e/introduction-to-the-new-north-dakota-early-learning-standards-tickets-69347236451

Please direct questions about the trainings to Kelli Odden, kelli.odden@mayvillestate.edu