Saturday, October 3rd
9:00-4:00pm
Avalon Events Center, Fargo

Join us for an engaging day that combines practical strategies, hands-on experiences, and fresh inspiration to help you create meaningful learning opportunities while strengthening your own passion for teaching.

You'll leave with ready-to-use activities, classroom resources, and developmentally appropriate strategies that make science and math accessible, engaging, and fun.

This summit also focuses on you—the educator. Explore practical ways to build resilience, foster meaningful connections with children, families and colleagues, and rediscover the joy and purpose behind your work.

Whether you're looking for new ideas to enrich your curriculum or renewed inspiration, this summit will equip you with actionable tools, creative resources, and the confidence to help both children and educators thrive.
